Undergraduate &

Admission

BROCHURE

2014 Edition

PREFACE

The University's Undergraduate Admissions Brochure was previously reviewed in October 2010. Since then there have been changes in the admission requirements for some courses. Senate had also approved new programmes and NUC had modified the number and guidelines for part-time programmes for the Institution.

The amendments to the existing admission requirements and the approval of the requirements for newly approved programmes were made by Senate at various times. There have also been changes of Faculty Representatives charged with the responsibilities of clearance of candidates and sometimes the handing over from one Faculty Representative to the other has not always been smooth thus resulting in conflicts in the resolution of issues arising from clearance exercise. All these have given rise to some confusion, misinterpretation and misapplication of the guidelines and requirements for the admission and clearance of candidates.

Moreover JAMB has since 2010/2011 decided to use UTME subjects of candidates for their admissions. It was observed that some of the UTME subjects listed in JAMB brochure were at variance with those in UAB brochure.

To ensure that the admission requirements are properly streamlined and uniformly applied, the University Admissions Board (UAB) decided to update the Admissions Brochure by incorporating all changes approved by Senate from 2010 to date into one document and bringing it in line with the requirements as contained in the JAMB Brochure for the guidance of candidates, clearance officers, the University community and the general public at large.

The materials used for the revision were contributed by the Deans of the Faculties/Schools and Directors of Institutes.

It is hoped that candidates will go through the requirements for admission into various courses for which they are qualified. This will to a large extent reduce and if possible eliminate the need for unending requests by candidates for change of courses after admission.
